

#RenovalueFacts

numbers that speak for themselves

9 are the organizations involved in the project

A built environment group of experts including: RICS, CBRE, Skanska, Karlsruhe Institute of Technology, Politecnico of Milan, Polish National Conservation Agency (NAPE), Troostwijk, INZEB and Business Solutions Europa

#1

864000€

the cofunding received from the European Union to implement the programme

#2

28

is the project duration in months (from Feb 2014 to June 2016)

#3

7 stakeholders roundtables organized in

7 European countries

#5

89%

is the positive feedback on the project expressed by roundtables participants

#6

8 are the language versions of the eLearning courses accessible via the RICS Online Learning Academy

#7

6

the valuation and built environment experts involved in the Renovalue European Valuation Steering Group

=

157

participants including valuation professionals, valuation users and other built environment stakeholders

#4

9

are the EU countries represented by the project partnership

#8

104

are the slides developed in English as support for professional trainers and valuers associations

#9

>728

is the total number of slides translated in 7 European languages

50

are the stakeholders involved in the Boys and Girls Plus Roundtable "Integrating Sustainability in property valuation" held at the European Parliament

#10

10 countries where the training material was tested

196 participants to the testing sessions

96% participants considering that such training would help with their daily work and conversations with clients

97% participants that would recommend the material to a colleague

#12

Renovalue

Contacts
www.renovalue.eu
@renovalueEU

#11

23 are the video interviews with stakeholders during the project implementation

Renovalue is funded by the Intelligent Energy Europe Programme.

The content of this document does not reflect the official opinion of the European Union. Responsibility for the information and views expressed lies entirely with the author(s).